

TALES OF MEMORY

Forgotten Chapters

Chapter II

Arrow of Justice

With bow and arrow, fearless and free,
Fighting for justice, you are the symbol we see. In Sherwood's embrace, your legend takes hold, Your tale of bravery,

will be forever told.

In a majestic forest, a legend was born, A hero of justice, with a heart so warm. Holding his bow, he took to the trees, Taking from the rich, setting spirits free. Giving to the poor, he's Robin hood.

With bow and arrow, fearless and free, Fighting for justice,
you are the symbol we see. In Sherwood's embrace, your legend takes hold, Your tale of bravery, will be forever told.

In his quiver of justice, bolts of fury reside, Piercing through armor, no, there is no place to hide. Suffering cries echoing, across the realm, across the land, he leads his men in rebellion,
a fearsome band.

In legends and tales, his legacy shall thrive, Robin hood, master of the blade, cloaked in dark shadows of the night.

With bow and arrow, fearless and free, Fighting for justice,
you are the symbol we see. In Sherwood's embrace, your legend
takes hold, Your tale of bravery, will be forever told.

With bow and arrow you have to fight, Stay for the freedom, Stay for freedom, This is your story, Only you can change. You have been noble, But now you are estranged.

Legend of the Seven Seas

You wait for me, Gaze at the sea, I hold your heart so close to me, So many days, So many ways, Until I find your trace. So many days, So many lies, So many hopes, So many tries, So many things, Until I'm done, how long should we two, Wait before we're one...?

Beyond the horizon, Your dreams lead you away, The youngest of captains. But rumors led you astray, The new prince's so egocentric – You didn't bend the knee, And you've escaped across the seven seas! Find me! You have told me, Find me! I promise I will do, Find me! Wherever you are, And since that time my heart belongs to you! Find me! The sails are ready. Find me! We're leaving with the dawn. Find me! Feeling heady. For you forever I will be the one!

You wait for me, Gaze at the sea, I hold your heart so close to me, So many days, So many ways, Until I find your trace. So many days, So many lies, So many hopes, So many tries, So many things, Until I'm done, how long should we two, Wait before we're one...?

On stranger tides it's storming. The price of freedom's high. The voices of sirens: It's shrill and makes you cry. Do not heed your counselors: With them forget the peace. You'll come to me across the seven seas! Find me! We're at the world's end. Find me! My crew is brave and strong. Find me! Never ever! I hope that our journey won't be wrong. Find me! Clouds are gathering, Find me! The waves are dark and huge. Find me! Storm is coming. Please anybody save us from the Deluge!

here... Nowhere... We are sailing in clouds. Stars all in crowds, Are sharing our way. here... Nowhere... Splendid Blue sailed frigate, Simply navigate Arrives. There... On the deck... You are staying and smiling. Songs of the sirens were so deceptive.... But, I can see, That my voice sounds stronger, For you it's stronger than them.

Now you are here, This place's so real, And all my doubts have disappeared. We'll change the sail We'll fight the gale, And then we'll drink the ale.

We'll be running high, We need to try. One day our ship will reach the sky! You're by my side, The world 's so wide, We'll travel it, yes, you are right.

We roam the seas, Overtake the breeze. And then we may go where we please. We are going far, From where we are. They called us legends, Of the seven seas!

My Demons

All my life I've been thinking, wondering, Where the time leads me astray, Days' colors are slowly fading, And clouds of loneliness darken my sky. I spend my nights fascinated, By this sky as barren as my soul. And nobody is hearing my call, Weak and scared, haunted by my demons, My demons.

On the edge, Voices from my past invading me, Sortilege, Bewitched by my past, Oh! Darkness of infinity, I am my own enemy, I try to silence them, they won't go away.

A new day, My visions turning grey, Leave me in peace,
I pray. Voices that surround me, drown me in my thoughts.
I've tried to chase them away, But they still return to haunt my soul, Oh, hope, my poor heart will you console?
How do I get rid of my demons?

On the edge, Voices from my past invading me, Sortilege,
Bewitched by my past, Oh! Darkness of infinity, I am
my own enemy, I try to silence them, they won't go away.

As I face adversity, I hold my shield, Unleash my feelings, love can heal, It gives me courage to face the unknown,
In faith, I find strength of my own.

On the edge, Voices from my past invading me, Sortilege,
Bewitched by my past, Oh! Darkness of infinity, I am
my own enemy, I try to silence them, they won't go away.

One Thousand and One Nights

In the shadows of the desert,
where the sands are burning bright, A woman of great power, is facing the moonlight, her stories are majestic, her tales are so divine, She brings the dawn, in the darkest of times.

her voice is the sword, her mind is the flame, Against the enemy, she calls his name, Through every tale, she bends the truth, A hero in silence, a goddess of youth. her voice is a spear, her mind is the shield, Against the king, she may be killed, Blade on her neck, she faces her fate. The stage is set, no time to wait.

Listen to me, Oh dear King, my stories are for you : I speak the fire, I speak the night, I'll rise above, I'll win this fight, Against your wrath, against your lies,
My words are stronger, I will rise.

her voice is the sword, her mind is the flame, Against the enemy, she calls his name,

Chapter V

Through every tale, she bends the truth, A hero in silence, a goddess of youth. Her voice is a spear, her mind is the shield, Against the king, she may be killed, Blade on her neck, She faces her fate. The stage is set, no time to wait.

أحكي بالليل، أحكي بنار
سأكر الضلع والعار
مهما كذبت، مهما خضبت كلما نتي لنت، بالمرصاد

her voice is the sword, her mind is the flame, Against the enemy, she calls his name, Through every tale, she bends the truth, A hero in silence, a goddess of youth. Her voice is a spear, her mind is the shield, Against the king, she may be killed, Blade on her neck, She faces her fate, The stage is set, no time to wait.

Candlelight

Your great gift is teaching, Spending life in preaching, To avoid temptation. Forget this relation, Fate with me is toying, It's your choice – enjoy it, Get away from this maze. But I melt beneath your gaze.

These shadows of the Candlelight, Show me what I want to see the most, Another day, another time, Another life – all that I've lost.

Your love was forbidden. Kept our feelings hidden. We played with the fire. Drowning in desire. The prison of our passion. Chains of our obsession. Need you more than ever, Stay with me forever.

These shadows of the Candlelight, Show me what I want to see the most, Another day, another time, Another life – all that I've lost.

You're far away, I count the days, Till I see you again someday, This waiting's long, I should be strong. Just let me know Cannot let you go!

Searching for salvation, To avoid damnation, Taking that decision:
We have a clear vision. Monasteries are peaceful, Our life stays blissful I don't want to be free – You're still everything for me!

These shadows of the Candlelight, Show me what I want to see the most, Another day, another time, Another life – all that I've lost.

How long ago, We lost our "steeling heaven" We couldn't save it even, And you need to know: It's not a sin, Love couldn't be a reason, To lead your heart to treason, Nobody could win.

You're far away, I count the days, Till I see you again, someday, This waiting's long, I should be strong. Just let me know Can't let you go!

Letter

The sky's so far – it's no matter, Trust me and I'll make you better. If you are sad, read my letter. This is not the end...

Overcome the pain, Your hope's in vain, Tangled in the shadows of the past, You're underwater.

Banging that ice, You thought you're wise, But you weren't, Desperate cries, Your hands are bloody, You're broken.

Stand up from the dust, Yes, you must, Summon all your strength, And rise, Against the cold, And a strong wind.

You'll certainly find, That marvelous shine, And its warmth draws you in, That's your aim. Just look, don't be blind Please open your mind, Fill you with hope, Then you'll take your fame.

No borders for that, You have your own way, Just carry on, And leave your failures, Don't give up your race, There's nothing to say, Then a new you is born, Don't turn for each lures.

Through the deep doubts, Through the sharp thorns, You will find the way to your stars, And they'll shine brighter for you, You're like a beast, In that small cage, People are laughing, Lead with your rage, But it will bring you nothing.

Walk and you'll reach, The first step, which is, The most important, Do it, And everything, That you want begins.

Just say: "I believe!", And you'll win that fight. Your dreams can't wait another round. Find strength in your heart, You can be that light, Which shines to change all things around.

You will change these things, A lot. You will spread your wings, Thank God! So what?

Chapter VIII

Burgundy's Fight

Post tenebras spero lucem.

All these fights, Oh it's far enough for me. All my debts are paid, Let me just be free. Father's gone, And my kingdom is in pain. I will be the one, Who can break this chain.

Now, I see the shining light. It makes me strong and keeps me fight, I have no idea when it finishes.
how ? how long should I wait? And everything has its rate. Please believe in me, now and forever.

Post tenebras spero lucem.

I'm besieged. And all this I can't afford. I need you, my prince. Would you be my sword? Burgundy... It's yours if we save the line. Stay with me, ally: You will drink my wine...

Now, I see the shining light. It makes me strong and keeps me fight, I have no idea when it finishes.
how? how long should I wait? And everything has its rate. Please believe in me, now and forever.

Orleans

What is easy, what is right? A difficult choice is not so clear. In the darkness you can't see, The way out because of your fear.

One hundred years it's turning. One hundred years they have to fight.
Suffering lands are burning. They want to leave but it's not right.

In the East lilies will bloom, And all your doubts will have gone.
If you want to change the future, It's your way to Orleans!

So hard to hope all your forces are in vain, You are tired.
«No way » you think, but, It is not the end, You are not right!

This path's so difficult. But borders are just in your head. This road is passable, And you will go. Leave doubts instead!

In the East lilies will bloom, And all your doubts will have gone.
If you want to change the future, It's your way to Orleans!

That day will come, And you will see. That better future, can be.
You will create it, With your arms. You should be sure, It's kind of charms.

❖ Chapter X ❖

Last hope

It's time to fall. I felt it all. Your gaze will never come to me. Just say it once: I lost my chance. You know the way to set me free.

A queen undone, The end has come, All my prayers fall down in vain, Cold steel will shine, This fate is mine, The blade will kiss away the pain.

Run, run! Shadows fall like stones. I will dance with fire, Burning through the bones. Wait, wait! Time is not yet gone.
It cuts too deep: I'm not your only one.

Caught in your eyes, I dreamt I'd rise, You made me believe in my way, Promises fade, Then you betrayed, I won't escape —
I'm bound to stay.

Run, run! Shadows fall like stones. I will dance with fire, Burning through the bones. Wait, wait! Time is not yet gone. It cuts too deep: I'm not your only one.

Run, run! Shadows fall like stones. You will dance with fire, Burning through the bones. Wait, wait! Time is not yet gone. It cuts too deep: You are not her only one.
